

Grant Agreement Number 2016-3537 | Project Reference Number 573884-
EPP-1-2016-1-IN-EPPKA2-CBHE-JP

With the objective of supporting multilingualism in India, CLIL@India is a project designed to set up a network of activities aimed at the transfer of CLIL knowledge/know-how and adaptation of European-based practice to the Indian education context. The project involves a Consortium of Higher Education institutions in India and Europe.

This conference aims to give visibility to the project which is at the beginning of its third and last year. The conference will give the Indian partners the opportunity to present the interim results of the CLIL teacher training and implementation they have carried out in selected primary schools.

An additional aim of the conference is to facilitate the exchange of CLIL experiences and showcase examples of action research projects in Europe.

Scientific committee

Luciana Pedrazzini, Giovanni Iamartino, Andrea Nava, Neeta Imandar

Organisation

Luciana Pedrazzini, Andrea Nava, Monica Sinibaldi, Angela Gatto, Mario Nappo, Ajinkya Deshmukh

Information

luciana.pedrazzini@unimi.it, andrea.nava@unimi.it

CLIL@India

Developing Content and Language
Integrated Learning
Resource and Training Centres
for a Multilingual India

Conference

University of Milan

4-5 March 2019

Sala Napoleonica

Via Sant'Antonio, 12
20122 Milan

4 March 2019

9.00 Registration

9.30- 10.00

Greetings

Marisa Porrini, Vice Rector, University of Milan

Giovanni Iamartino, Head of Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, University of Milan

Chair

Giovanni Iamartino, Head of Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures, University of Milan, Italy

10.00-10.30

Bringing home a European idea - CLIL@INDIA. The journey so far...

Neeta Imandar, CLIL@India project Coordinator, MAHE (Manipal Academy of Higher Education), India

10.30-11.15

A CLIL journey in the world

Gisella Langé, Senior Adviser, Ministry of Education, Italy

11.15-11.45 Coffee break

11.45-12.30

CLIL implementation in primary classes in Karnataka

Ajinkya Deshmukh, Deepti Sreeram

MAHE (Manipal Academy of Higher Education), India

12.30-13.15

CLIL implementation in primary classes in Tamil Nadu

Gurmeet Singh, Mumtaz Begum, Pondicherry University, India

13.15-14.15 Lunch

Chair

Richard Smith, University of Warwick, UK

14.15-15.00

CLIL implementation in primary classes in Maharashtra

Vaishali Jundre, Yogita Bhamare, Jayasree Menon

Symbiosis International University, India

15.00-15.45

CLIL implementation in primary classes in Punjab

Sangeeta Pant, Parul Sood, Aasheesh Bhatnagar

Chitkara University, India

5 March 2019

Chair

Neeta Imandar, CLIL@India project Coordinator, MAHE (Manipal Academy of Higher Education), India

9.30-10.15

Teaching in low-resource classrooms: an enhancement approach

Richard Smith, University of Warwick, UK

10.15-11.00

The CLIL for Children (C4C) Project: Designing a CLIL Community of Learning and Practice

Margarida Morgado, Instituto Politécnico de Castelo Branco, Portugal

11.00-11.30 Coffee break

11.30-12.30

An interactional perspective to CLIL practice: dilemmas and transformations

Helena Dorothy Aikin Araluce, Ana Maria Relação Pastor, Alicia Fernandez Barrera, Ester Nieto, La Universidad de Castilla-La Mancha, Spain

12.30-13.00

The CLIL Excellence project in Lombardy (Italy): main findings

Luciana Pedrazzini, Andrea Nava, University of Milan, Italy

13.00-14.00 Lunch

Chair

Gisella Langé, Senior Adviser, Ministry of Education, Italy

14.00-14.45

From planning to practice: La GuidaAgenda CLIL, a useful tool for teachers.

Letizia Fossati, Silvana Daniele, CLIL textbook authors, Italy

14.30-15.15

CLIL: Excellence through networking and knowledge sharing. Experiences in Varese Province. Paola Benetti, Educational Authority, Daniele Chiffi, School Principal, Elena Garti, CLIL primary teacher, Italy

15.15-15.30

Conclusions

Gunta Roziņa, Indra Karapetjana, University of Latvia